A Message from Chancellor Penney

I am very pleased that once again the University of Massachusetts Boston has exceeded the previous year's total in gifts from alumni, friends, corporations, foundations, and civic and labor organizations. Pleased, and also most grateful to all of our supporters in the Greater Boston community who gave so generously to the University during 1992-1993. Their gifts and grants recognize the worth of our mission and the very high quality of our teaching, research, and community outreach programs. We value such recognition because it signifies concretely that the endeavors of our faculty, staff, and students are appreciated. And as a public urban institution committed to serving the people of Massachusetts, we rely more and more on funds from a variety of non-state sources.

Last year's private giving total—$1,564,241—represents an increase of 22 percent over FY92. The money will underwrite a wide array of activities. Certainly, scholarship funds provide a splendid return on donor investment, but we also expect substantial dividends to flow from support of our ventures enhancing teaching, research, and those public and private initiatives that do so much to improve the quality of life. We have developed new academic programs to meet the needs of our students and to promote pluralism, and we have also focused increasingly on helping to create a healthier economic climate in our state. Many of us have engaged in significant research and community service that extended both our intellectual reach and our ties to the communities around us.

In looking to the future, I know that with the continued support of our friends UMass Boston will represent the very best in public urban higher education. The gifts and grants we received last year give us an excellent foundation on which to build a finer and more responsive institution. My deep thanks, therefore, to all who in such meaningful ways helped raise UMass Boston to a higher ground of achievement.

Sherry H. Penney, Chancellor

Highlights of the 1992–1993 Campaign

Arthur Mabbett (UMB '69), president of Mabbett and Associates, was given the Distinguished Science Alumni Award at a dinner honoring science and mathematics alumni and faculty.

At the science and math alumni dinner (l-r): Professor Taffee Tanimoto; Science Faculty Dean Christine Armett Kibel; Chancellor Penney; College of Arts and Sciences Dean Louis Esposito; and professors Bettina Harrison, Ernest Becker, and Michael Mensoian.

We are delighted to report that support from individuals reached $475,209, surpassing last year's total by 28 percent. For their significant level of support, we are especially grateful to Lorraine Kelley Alessi, Karyn Wilson and Miles Byrne, Theresa M. Corcoran, Agnes M. "Diddy" Cullinane, John H. and Jane Fitzpatrick, Robert and Marybeth Haynes, Auta Hendler, Richard Leahy, Arthur and Beverly Mabbett, and Daniel D. Phillips.

Corporate and foundation support increased by 21 percent, to $1,015,679. Key contributions came from the Balfour Foundation, the Boston Globe Foundation, the Boston Edison Foundation, the C.J. Huan Foundation, the Educational Fund of America, the Ford Foundation, GTE, Litton Industries, New England Telephone, Polaroid, and the Social Policy Institute.

*Includes retired members

Many corporate and civic leaders took part in the life of the campus by serving on such advisory groups as the Campus Council, the Friends of Nursing, the Science and Math Advisory Board, and the College of Management Advisory Board. Chet Curtis, news co-anchor for WCVB-TV, and Patrick Purcell, former president of the Boston Herald, were guest speakers at the very successful Leadership Lecture Series organized by our executive-in-residence, Stephen J. Sweeney, retired Chairman and CEO of Boston Edison.

Among the events receiving solid support from our community and alumni were the Anthropology Dinner, the Art Alumni Show, the Business Breakfast, the Celebration of Black Scholarship in New England, the College of Management Auction, the Golden Jubilee Luncheon, the Graduate College of Education Fellowship Drive, the Ed Barry Golf Tournament, the Law Club Luncheon, the Music Department's concerts, the Philosophy Dinner, the Science and Math Alumni Dinner, and the Tall Ships festivities. Our friends also responded generously to special drives for the Sam Wilson Scholarship, the Joseph W. Joyce Labor Scholarship, the Matsuda Memorial Fund, and the Fund for Asian American Studies. We are most grateful for all their help.

How 1992–1993 Gifts will be Used

To continue meeting its goals of access, excellence, and diversity, UMass Boston will rely heavily on generous gifts of individuals, corporations, foundations, and labor and civic organizations that support such activities as the important financial aid initiatives and faculty and student research projects described below.

Welcoming guests at the Celebration of Asian American Teaching, Research, and Service is Prof. Peter Kiang of UMass Boston's Graduate College of Education.

At the celebration (l-r): J.D. Hokoyama, executive director and president of LEAP (Leadership Education for Asian Pacifics); Chancellor Penney; and David Kim, corporate relations manager for Anheuser Busch.

Academic and Student Support Programs

$396,330

Many gifts have benefited academic programs in the College of Arts and Sciences, the College of Management, the College of Nursing (including the Human Performance and Fitness Program), the College of Public and Community Service, and the Graduate College of Education. The Healey Library and the University's Adaptive Computing Laboratory will also benefit from these private donations.

Enrichment Programs for Pre-College Students

$143,869

Boston-area students of high school age and younger will benefit from major gifts supporting: the Rainforest Collaboration, which spurs interest in science-related careers by sponsoring 7th graders' visits to the rainforest of Costa Rica to study ecology and biodiversity; the Admission Guaranteed Program, which guides selected students from three Boston high schools through their secondary school years and assures admission to the University for those who complete the program successfully; the Urban Scholars Program, which conducts intensive courses for promising high school and middle school students; and a new program that introduces minority high school students to journalism

University trustee Daniel A. Taylor chats with Cathy Minehan, first vice president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, at the second annual Business Breakfast.

Diversity and Faculty Development $83,853

1992-1993 gifts will enable UMass Boston to expand access to excellence, particularly through programs designed to strengthen teaching and the curriculum in an increasingly multicultural institution.

Radio Station WUMB-FM $166,421

UMass Boston's public-service radio station, WUMB (91.9FM), received numerous donations from listeners to support such programs as "Acoustic Images," "The Quiet Storm," and "As Young as You Feel."

Public/Private Partnership Activities $53,435

Several units within the University, including the Urban Harbors Institute, the Physical Plant Department, and the Development Office, received gifts of equipment to assist their efforts. Further proceeds from the Tall Ships event held on campus supported community outreach.

Public Service and Research Programs $396,865

Many generous gifts will help the new Institute for Asian American Studies begin its work on issues of particular concern to our state's growing Asian community. Other gifts will aid policy research and analysis projects of the John W. McCormack Institute of Public Affairs.

Student Activities $32,896

UMass Boston student life will be enhanced by many gifts supporting programs in the Athletics Department as well as those of the University's diverse student-administered student centers.

Scholarships and Financial Aid $204,575

Major Gifts increased support for several scholarship programs. A $25,000 donation from the Foundation for Litton Industries added to the endowment of the Litton Industries Scholarship for mathematics or computer science majors. Other major 1992-93 gifts included support from the Boston Globe Foundation for Taylor Scholarship for graduates of Boston high schools, as well as gifts to the James E. Blackwell, William Bulger, Joseph Joyce, Madden-Quigley, Vincent I. Mastricola Jr., Bernie Sneed, Michael A. Ventresca, and Sam Wilson scholarship funds.

Unrestricted Gifts $85,997

Undesignated gifts from both individuals and organizations—gifts both numerous and welcome—will permit UMass Boston to expand its financial aid and scholarship programs, acquire much needed equipment, and support faculty teaching and research.

Total $1,564,241

Theresa M. Corcoran (l), who recently retired as a professor in the Human Performance and Fitness Program, received the Exemplary Service Award at this year's College of Nursing Recognition Dinner. Presenting the award was Program Director Gail Arnold.
